BYE TO THE PAST YEAR - HI TO THE NEXT

Being on the threshold of a new year, it is a great time to reflect on the learnings of the past year and how to use them to propel ourselves forward in the coming year. Think about what you did well last year. For example, did you pass a difficult exam? Celebrate that success!

Ask yourself, "Did I reach the goals I had set? Did I have a positive attitude? Was I an optimist or a pessimist? Did I struggle with assignments? Did I have enough time to pursue whatever I wanted to? - be it studies, sports, or any other hobby. Did I make any new friends? Did I step out of my comfort zone and try anything new? Did I volunteer to help others? Did I practise the attitude of gratitude?"

Once you answer these questions and consider your needs, it will guide you in the coming year.

However, these general tips will hold good always.

- Take a moment each day to think of things you are thankful for.
- Learn from mistakes. Focus on your strengths and avoid similar mistakes.
- Set clear goals and visualize them. Reflect and adjust your goals as needed.
- Be organized and manage your time better.
- Ask for help from supportive friends and family and be open to feedback.
- Being positive, resilient and persistent helps bounce back from setbacks.
- Engage actively in class discussions, be curious and ask questions.
- Balance work and fun. Both are required.
- Take care of your physical and mental health.
- Create a positive study environment. Taking short breaks while studying can help refresh your mind.
- Learn to say NO to your friends if you need time to focus on your studies.
- Use technology wisely and limit social media distractions when you study.
- Use money wisely.
- Explore hobbies, develop critical thinking and skills like writing, speaking or coding. They can help reduce stress.
- Stay informed about current events.
- Be kind and brighten someone's day.

As you step into the new year, remember that growth is a continuous process. Embrace the challenges and opportunities that come your way! Approach the new year with excitement and determination.

COMPASSION

Compassion is to understand and share the feelings and challenges of others, with empathy and kindness, in their times of need. Compassion makes us look and think beyond ourselves and connect with others on a deeper, humane level. Being compassionate creates a supportive community where people feel valued and loved. Acts of compassion can be small, like offering a smile or significant, like helping someone in a crisis.

A compassionate world is a world of care, respect, and support for one another in times of hardship. Small acts of compassion can have a ripple effect, spreading positivity and healing around us. Compassion not only helps others but also brings joy and fulfilment to our own life.

WINTER AND DAISY

CHAPTER 1: MEGHA- THE CHOSEN ONE

Once upon a time, there was a beautiful world, vastly different from today's. There were flowers of rainbow colours that could walk around, trees with colourful leaves that could play, and creatures that existed but had yet to be discovered by scientists. There were woods where everything was made of jewels and many other fascinating wonders. No matter how much scientists may claim that such a world is a myth, some incidents continue to give us hope that someday, we too will be part of such a world.

Years ago, there lived a maiden in this mystical world—Winter. She lived all alone on an island, far from where humans existed at that time. She had a furry pet, Daisy -an animal that scientists do not recognize. It had a furry tail, a short but cute snout, two big twinkling eyes, and a small round body that made it look like a cute ball of fur. Winter dedicated all her time to Daisy, as she had no one else there. How the duo had gotten there, no one knew.

One cheery, sunny morning, as Winter and Daisy set out to pluck some diamond flowers, Daisy heard an unfamiliar noise. "Chee-Chee-Chee." She quickly alerted her companion. As Winter tried to concentrate on hearing the sound, "Tring-Trring!"

The school bell rang, signalling the end of the library class. Next was Computer Studies. Nine-year old Megha was captivated by the story, but it ended abruptly.

Her Computer Studies teacher entered and started teaching, but that day, even her favourite subject felt long. There were three more hours until dismissal. The time seemed to stretch for an eternity. Finally, it was dismissal time.

"Good, now I can go home and continue reading the story," she thought to herself.

(The story to be continued in the coming edition)
